The Rice community prides itself on being just that — a community. That means one person's success is everyone's success, and each person's input is important. Make your voice heard at the upcoming Town Hall meetings in October, where President David Leebron and other top administrators will answer questions and discuss the things that matter most to one of Rice's most important community members — you!

Visit www.rice.edu/townhall to share your thoughts, opinions, concerns and any questions you’d like to see addressed at the meetings — then come join the conversation.
